

HIGHLANDERS' REVENGE

Uncle and niece Paul and Victoria Richman team up to write their debut World War Two novel

Retired successful businessman Paul Richman, and his niece, journalist Victoria Richman, decided to combine their skills to write the first of what is hopefully a series of novels together. "I've always had a passion for military fiction and had an idea for a story, but really didn't know how to go about it," explains Paul. "Luckily Victoria has always wanted to branch out into novel writing – after a few hours of discussion at a wedding reception one day, the idea for Paul Tors was born!"

Highlanders' Revenge tells the story of Mash, the nickname Highland soldiers give to an Englishman in their ranks. Scarred both from the retreat before the Blitzkrieg advance across France and from the murder of his first love, Mash has to integrate himself into a new section that is wary of the sullen and secretive 'Mash Man' – an outsider in their midst.

Together they journey to Egypt where they encounter a way of life that tests them to their limits. Scorched by day, frozen by night and plagued by insects, they have to learn how to live and fight in the desert as they prepare for one of the greatest battles of the Second World War. They are then cast into the thick of the fighting at El Alamein and the Allies' tumultuous battle to break through the Axis defenses...

Highlanders' Revenge combines the fast-paced action and intrigue of a military novel with the real-life exploits of the 5th Camerons, an extraordinary unit that saw action in most of the major battles in North Africa and Western Europe. As Victoria explains, "We've meticulously researched the Camerons to create a gripping novel which will appeal to fans of military fiction who also appreciate historical accuracy."

PAUL TORS is the pen name of uncle and niece team Paul and Victoria Richman, who combined their skills and expertise to create Highlanders' Revenge. Paul is a retired successful businessman whose passion is military history. Victoria is a Creative Writing graduate who works as a freelance journalist.
